At it's summer meeting on July 10, 2011, Club members celebrated the 50th birthday of the Iowa Brittany Club! The Iowa Brittany Club was founded on June 20, 1961.

IBC Summer Meeting Ends With A Bang!...

Though the IBC's 50th birthday cake didn't sport fifty candles, our host, Larry Dunn, owner of Steelclay Shooting Sports, made sure the celebration was one to remember. To close our summer meeting, Larry demonstrated the fire power of his antique canon...

And a ka-boom it was!

Very fitting for our 50 year accomplishment!

The IBC's summer meeting concentrated on the productive handling of many topics including the amendment of the Club's Articles of Incorporation into perpetuity, potential amendment to the IBC By-Laws, plans for our upcoming fall events, introduction of Iowa Brittany Club clothing available soon, and plans for updating the information available on the IBC website.

The current slate of IBC Officers was re-elected for the 2012 calendar year...these include Jon St. Clair (President), Bruce Heiter (1st Vice President), Jane Windom (2nd Vice President), Roger Stowell (3rd Vice President), Marcy Beveridge (Secretary) and Kendall Brown (Treasurer). Due to the resignation of Mary Garr as Director, Bob Burchett was elected to fulfill the Director position for the remainder of the 2011 through 2012 term. With Director Ken Windom's term expiring at the end of 2011, Ken was re-elected as Director for the 2012 through 2014 year term.

The meeting was adjourned followed by a pot-luck lunch enjoyed by all. Watch your email and mailbox for the meeting minutes!

New Iowa Brittany Club Members...

Submitted by Marcy Beveridge, Secretary

Please join me in welcoming several new members to the Iowa Brittany Club!....

Dr. Mark Schultz and his wife, along with their young Brittany boy "Yeager Meister" hail from Storm Lake where Mark is a family physician. Mark is quite familiar with Brittany's as he notes he's had them since he was about five years old! Though unable to attend our July Club meeting, I know he is anxious to meet you all and get involved in IBC events, so we hope to see both Mark and Yeager this fall!

Dave Grindberg and family, including Ladie his female Brittany, are from Ft. Dodge, and are good friends of Mark Schultz who also just joined the IBC. In fact Dave and Mark have "joined forces" with the recent breeding of Dave's "Ladie" and Mark's "Yeager" to produce a litter of healthy pups with a very nice pedigree. You can read about this litter here in the July Newsletter, as well as on the IBC website where Mark's puppy ad will soon be posted. Mark is an avid hunter, looking forward to meeting IBC members and learning about our events.

Kristopher Hayes, who goes by "Kritter", has just joined the IBC as this Newsletter goes to print. Kritter and family live in Adel with their three Brittany's... "Rizzo", "Chip", and "2Dot". He is an avid hunter, fisherman and conservationist. Kritter will no doubt find an interest in the IBC events, and we're hoping to meet him and his Brittany's very soon!

IBC Member Brags...

Submitted by Marcy Beveridge, Secretary

The IBC's very own Angela Thompson is proud to announce that her boy, Ammo's High Tide, aka "Rip", has grabbed his Champion title this spring. With Jessica Carlson on the other end of the lead, "Rip" embarked on his show career early this summer, competing in a few select shows in the midwest and west coast. In just a few shows, and within a month's time, "Rip" had achieved his title in high style, highlighted with the winning of a 5 point major in California. Our congratulations to "Rip" and Angela! We couldn't be more proud!

ABC National Raffle...

Submitted by Marcy Beveridge, Secretary

The American Brittany Club's National Raffle Committee is approaching each club and it's members to assist in generating revenue for the five National Raffle events...Monies raised will help offset the cost of running quality events and grounds improvement at these venues. The ABC has forwarded me a supply of 25 raffle tickets, asking that the Iowa Brittany Club and it's members sell as many as possible (we can always get more if need be). Total revenue raised will be divided five ways among the ABC National events...the National Specialty Show, the National Open and Amateur Gun Dog Championships, and the National Open and Amateur All Age Championships. A drawing for the following prizes will be held during the live auction at the clubhouse in Booneville, Arkansas on Saturday, the 26th of November, 2011...ticket holders need not be present to win...

Health Tip Of The Quarter...

As you'll recall, the new "Health Tip Of The Quarter" feature was kicked off at our January, 2011 winter meeting with a program on traps, and followed by an article on heat exhaustion in the April, 2011 Newsletter. Given the weather conditions we've experienced to date this summer that are likely to continue, this quarter's health tip will again concentrate on the effect of heat on our four legged friends...specifically, what is the difference between heat exhaustion and heat stroke, what are the specific symptoms of both, and how can we prevent and treat both. Read this information carefully and keep it at close hand should you find yourself in the position of having to help a dog in heat distress. Heat can be extremely dangerous to our dogs and we hope you won't hesitate to share this information with your friends and neighbors. You could very well be saving a dog's life.

Heat exhaustion and heatstroke are dangerous situations for a dog, with exhaustion the precursor to heatstroke. Heat exhaustion is generally overheating, the result of too much exposure, heat, and exercise but the situation can usually be remedied by taking immediate action. With heat exhaustion, the dog's temperature must be monitored to prevent the more deadly heatstroke.

Dog heat exhaustion symptoms can be similar to heatstroke, but may not be associated with an elevation in body temperature as is the case with heatstroke. Symptoms can include heavy, rapid panting, gasping for air, a drunken, dizzy or mentally dazed demeanor, muscle weakness, abnormally rapid heartbeat, lying down, collapsing or fainting, diarrhea, nausea and vomiting, reddening of the skin inside the ears, and muscle cramps (seizure-like tremors). It is critical at the point of suspected or confirmed heat exhaustion that you bring the dog inside to a cool, shaded area and offer small amounts of fresh, tepid water (large amounts of water or cold water should be avoided). Rinse the dog off with cool (NOT cold) water and place him in front of a fan while still damp. Continue to take the dog's temperature (rectally) and take him to your veterinarian once he starts to cool down.

Heatstroke is typically the result of the same exposure, heat and exercise components of heat exhaustion, with the addition of high humidity levels. It occurs when the dog is no longer able to maintain his normal body temperatures of approximately 101F, and it rises to 105F and above; at temperatures of roughly 106F the dog's internal organs will start to breakdown and if he's not cooled down quickly enough, he will most likely die. If the dog's temp exceeds 106F, you only have minutes to save his life. If a dog reaches the heatstroke stage, not enough was done to monitor/drop the dog's temperature early on, or care just simply came too late. It is absolutely critical at this point to seek professional emergency treatment. Heatstroke signs can include excessive and loud, irregular panting, breathing difficulty, pale gums, bright red tongue, disorientation and confusion, anxiety, dizziness, vacant or staring expression, glazed and/or dilated pupils, tremors or seizures, muscle weakness, increased heart rate, thick saliva, vomiting, diarrhea, excessive drooling or frothing at mouth, lack of urine production, rectal bleeding, difficulty walking or moving, and collapse and/or coma.

As you are making arrangements to secure medical treatment, move the dog to a cooler, shaded or inside area. Offer him small of tepid water (too much water will cause him to vomit and add to his state of dehydration, or bloat). Sponge down his entire body with cool, NOT cold water paying particular attention to the tummy, groin, and foot pad areas; cold water will cause his blood vessels to constrict and thereby stop heat from escaping which can send the dog into shock. Never submerge him into cold water as this will almost certainly throw him into shock or cool him down too rapidly, leading to further complications; running water (such as a faucet or hose) is the best way to wet down the dog's body. If you can, once you've wet him down, place an electric fan to blow on him. If not, improvise with a towel or something that will cause a draft around him, or use something to hand fan him to aid in cooling him through the process of evaporation. Never cover an overheated dog with a wet towel or blanket...this inhibits evaporation and creates a sauna-like effect on his body. Never wet the dog down and put it into a confined area such as a kennel. Keep the dog standing or moving if you can...circulating blood tends to pool if the dog is lying down. Massage his body and skin gently and flex his legs to encourage circulation. Monitor his temperature rectally and get him to a veterinarian for emergency treatment!

Young puppies, older dogs, overweight dogs and dogs with existing illness or in recovery from illness or surgery are more prone to heat exhaustion and heatstroke. Regardless of the age or condition of your dog, you need to know the signs of heatstroke and heat exhaustion. As one expert so aptly notes, an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure...and common sense should be your guide in keeping your four legged buddy safe from heat related dangers. Never, never, never leave your dog in a closed vehicle; even temps of 70 degrees can rise to life threatening levels in minutes. Be aware of temps and humidity levels. Exercise your dog in early morning and late evening...shorten his walks, and stay closer to home in hot weather. Take your dog's age and overall health into consideration when planning outdoor activities. Supervise your dog and help him restrict his usual rambunctious activities...he most likely won't restrict himself! Make sure he always has fresh, cool water and lots of shade available to him. Brush his coat regularly so as to remove dead haircoat which can trap heat. Monitor his food intake prior to exercise. Pay particular attention to your dog and his demeanor in times of high heat/humidity. And most importantly, don't ever take a "wait and see" attitude when it comes to dealing with the dangers of heat and humidity for your dogs. Plan ahead, and if you suspicion your dog is being affected by heat, contact your vet. and act immediately!
